Technical Maintenance

Issues

- Designs are outdated and must be aligned with contemporary trends
- Offline tools cause collaboration within the team to be limited
- Keeping styling consistent with the use of Photoshop and Illustrator is difficult
- Providing clients with .pdf and .jpg files causes bottlenecks in feedback
- Adobe Photoshop's animation tools are insufficient for web design use

Solutions

- Produce updated, contemporary designs that improve upon the quality of previous material, including researching and following current trends in web design
- Utilise Figma's Fig Jam tools to collaborate on design work in realtime
- Use Figma's asset system and AI checking tools to maintain and update design choices and rules
- Use Figma's online sharing and collaboration tools (ie. Fig Jam) to obtain client feedback more efficiently and dynamically
- Use Figma's animation tools to animate web design elements

Tasks

- Update internal database with the above solutions and allocate tasks
- Inform lead developer
- Create updated designs as per client brief
- Set up asset system within Figma to easily share designs within the team
- Make use of Figma's animation tools to develop visually intriguing web elements
- Provide updated designs to Lead Developer for comments and feedback

Potential Opportunities:

- Expanding the design team's skillset
- Increased collaboration and communication
- More efficient design development

- Higher client satisfaction and turnover
- Greater profits

Potential Risks/Threats

- The team may find it difficult to adapt to the new technology
- The team may find the new technology ineffective
- The transition phase may delay current projects
